Nurture with Nature – a pedal and paddle experience through the Detroit River International Wildlife Refuge and Trenton Trail Town Daycation.

Begin your outdoor excursion at the Detroit River International Wildlife Refuge Monguagon Wetland parking area for a roughly 2-mile kayak tour of Humburg Marsh. This remnant marsh is classified as a place of importance to threatened, endangered, and vulnerable fish and fowl like sturgeon and bald eagles. Humburg Marsh represents the ecological jewel of North America's first and only international wildlife refuge.

After paddling the marsh tour, you'll get outfitted for a ride onto (trail name into Trenton) for quick trip upriver through Elizabeth Park then around downtown and old town areas of Trenton along the (trail name) with stops at Promenade where you can enjoy a French pressed coffee or decadent treat and then finishing up at Truago for an early dinner and adult beverage that tops off what you've earned in calorie burn. Once you're ready, it's a short 3 miles on the trail to turn bikes in a get your vehicle.

Price per person: 95-115

Package price per person:

Pedal & Paddle/Pizza & Pints Daycation. Get fitted and ready to roll by bike through the charming historic community of Flat Rock making a first stop for a cup o' joe at Blue Heron Trading Company to get caffeinated before venturing into historic Huroc Park and then onto Oakwood Metro Park via the (name of trail that runs out to Oakwood). Along the way you'll soak up scenic woodlands alongside the picturesque Huron River.

Inside Oakwood Park you'll switch from pedal to paddle for kayaking down the Huron and back into Flat Rock where you can refuel with a late lunch at Michael's on the River, Atwater Tacos or Wize Guys Bistro. Once we determine which of these eateries is the destination copy on them, what they offer and where they are can be inserted.
